

Joseph Conrad's novella Heart of Darkness epitomizes willful blindness, revealing that purposeful ignorance engenders self-inflicted corruption.

The novella Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad is about indoctrination and reveals that civilized education burdens us with a false sense of power and ideals.

The novella Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad is about indoctrination and reveals that a belief in our own superiority leads to greed and delusions of virtue.

The novella Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad is about revelation and exposes that examining our innermost thoughts lifts the veil of blindness to show our moral decay.

The novella Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad is about moral decay and reveals that greed and obsession can lead to abandonment of one's scruples.